FEBRUARY 2024

Leader's Message

As we watch the winter rains come down and see the rivers swell this February, our excitement for the upcoming arrival of spring grows stronger.

On February 2nd, Punxsutawney Phil didn't spot his shadow, predicting an early spring. Let's take this as a cue to start planning and bringing our spring landscape dreams to life. We can make the most of the groundwork laid by the winter rains by imagining vibrant, flourishing landscapes.

If you need help turning your ideas into reality, our team is here for you. Whether you're thinking about incorporating drought-tolerant plants or creating habitats for pollinators, our landscape designers are ready to offer expert advice and assistance.

For a consultation and tailored recommendations, feel free to contact our team. Together, let's make your vision a reality.

With Appreciation,

JJ Fitzgerald

Property Spotlight – Kunde Winery

The Landesign team worked in close collaboration with Landscape Architect Parker Smith and the Kunde Family to ensure the successful realization of their vision for the landscape surrounding the new Barrel Room.

The Barrel Room functions as an operational space for crafting and storing wine. At the front of the building, there is a room designated for wine club members, which is also available for special events. A spacious patio, covered by a large awning, extends from this room.

This area overlooks a sizable lawn, traversed by a winding path bordered by dwarf southern magnolia trees. Saucer magnolias, iceberg roses, salvia flowers, and grasses enhance the lawn's surroundings, creating a distinct separation from the more public guest spaces. The lush planting contributes to a more intimate and exclusive ambiance within the expansive setting, offering a unique experience apart from the rest of the guest areas.

The Landesign Design/Build team would love to assist you with your next landscaping project. Please contact us for a consultation.
