OCTOBER 2020

Founders' Message

It's hard to believe that summer has already come and gone, and fall is upon us. With everything we've been experiencing so far this year, we can't help but feel like there's no better time than now to extend our gratitude to the Firefighters, First Responders and all those who have volunteered their time and resources to help during the 2020 wildfire season. Your actions throughout the chaos and uncertainty do not go unnoticed.

Whether it's a result of wildfires or the changing of the seasons, we're sure to see many changes in our landscapes over the course of the coming months. The team here at Landesign is prepared to help you rejuvenate your landscape by making the most of seasonal colors. We look forward to brightening up our community this season and beyond.

Sincerely,

John and Denise Fitzgerald
Landesign C&M, Founders

Annual Flower Rotation

Few elements in a landscape effect the appearance of a property the way annual flowers can. Rotating in seasonally appropriate flowers can help rejuvenate your landscape with a new sense of personality and life. There are a variety of cold-weather flowers to choose from, but a few of the most popular choices are the Pansy, Chinese Pink (Dianthus), Cyclamen, Primrose, and Snapdragon. Each of these will deliver the “wow” factor your landscape needs during the off-season.

One of the most exciting things about the annual color rotation is that it allows you an opportunity to get creative. There are a number of different options for adding seasonal colors into your landscape, including:

- Annual garden bed plantings
- Container gardens
- Planters and pots
- Decorative hanging baskets

The team at Landesign can guide you through the color rotation process each step of the way. We'll be able to help you select and incorporate the best flower varieties for the season and site condition. Our seasonal displays and annual planting are sure to keep your property looking colorful all year-round.
